Re-state the Assignment

Create a processing sketch of my self-portrait which I drew.

Hand-drawn sketches

Reflections

Moving from the sketch to the actual interpretation of the work was definitely challenging. The sketch could be done in any way without any limitations. However, I could only use the shapes I knew in processing to create the sketch. The shapes were limited to ellipse, rectangles, triangles, lines, and arcs. Due to these limitations, I had to be creative in order to make the processing drawing look alike. I found it very enjoyable when my processing sketch slowly came together and I could slowly see my self-portrait. I thought that was very satisfying. I found it frustrating when I find out that the ideas I had could not be completed with my limited shapes.
